GHARITY:

OR, THE

SANCTUARY.

[Price One Shilling.]

CHARITY:

OR, THE

SANCTUARY.

A

POEM.

Inscribed to the

MED. But the menty from

Or tenished the disaff Art.

". Alt Talker State

"The sty Thuman I feel and being the

A RESERVED TO THE PARTY OF THE Right Honourable, and Honourable the Presidents and Governors of the LYING-IN HOSPITAL, in Duke-Street, Grosvenor-Square.

Come unto me, all ye that are heavy laden, and I will refresh you.

LONDON:

Printed for R. and J. Dodsley, in Pall-Mall.

MDCCLIX.

CHARITH AR IN TOPPER

HUL 7 1933
LIBRARY
Micholofung

Y MAU nichologing VI A

P O E

feir on haditant

Right Honourable, and Honourable the Prefidents and Governors of the Lyrne-in Hospital, in Duke-Street, Großbener-Square.

Come unto me, all yo that are beaugifulen, and I will refresh god.

LOWDOW.

Priored for R. and J. Donatar, in P.N. Matt.

Lat here a Deiry drines villet .

Who gave him 61% and feetle with his thereof has converged had beyond the Grave, — This tipele Month radictes a converge of A People, let the Infidel look house.

In eviry Face he flines; Lef Jasus hors, the second true Servant, respondented to the second true Servant, respondented to the second true servante second true servante second true secon

C H A R I That Y 3 AT

This this is his Michenburgh, herechedwhales i

True Christian Pay on excellent the state of the

With Force includes appears, and thepa, our sering density

By Characty differently, where specifically what is viewed and there at

SANCTUARY

Vindidire, there's abroad his Reming Franciscon Street

SEE, see! Humanity among us still,

Ah, see! how lovely sweet her op'ning Door!

How beautiful the Threshold where she treads!

The gladsome Tidings and the Balm she brings!

Her Eye looks Cordials, and her Hand divides them;

And what she sows on Earth, she reaps in Heav'n.

The Child unborn, e'er yet he sees the Sun,

Or breathes the vital Air, is here oblig'd,

And his first Voice is Gratitude: — Oh see!

Did ever Charity with such a Smile appear?

How sweetly does she smile! how like a Christian!

What Dignity divine! what Meeknes! — Sure

If any Thing on Earth can open Heav'n,

'Tis Charity like this: That Heav'n is here.

How pure! with what Good-will her Bounty streams!

As Christian Bounty should, whose great Reward

Is but to give the Dole, for his dear Sake

Who gave himfelf, and fettle with his Love Beyond the Grave. - This fingle House redeems A People, let the Infidel look here: Lo! here, a Deity shines visible; In ev'ry Face he shines; lo! JESUS here, In each true Servant, reigns on Earth confess'd: This, this is his MILLENNIUM, here he reigns; In Hearts like these, his Throne's for ever fix'd; Ten Thousand Profligates are here redeem'd; The Angel of Revenge puts up the Sword, By Charity disarm'd, when on this House He looks, and fees a mightier Angel here; True Christian Pity on each Face impress'd, With Force ineffable appears, and stops The Arm of Wrath, with more appealing Pow'r, Than David's fearful Sacrifice, when from The Threshing-floor, he saw the Minister Vindictive, stretch abroad his flaming Brand O'er trembling Sion's fad devoted Tow'rs, Denouncing Ruin to the holy City. Here, here the Character of Britain lives, Not in loose Revel, Masquerade, and Dance.

What bashful Gratitude on yonder Brow
The burden'd Matron bears! — See secret Joy
Now dancing at her Heart, her Babe, herself
Provided for, that else, O shocking Thought!
The sleety Hail, the howling North severe,
Or bitter Want, or sharp Temptation, that Dreadful Neighbour to Distress, had plung'd perhaps: —
(O, snatch the horrid Image from my Soul)
That sweet preventing Hand holds out the Cup;
The guiltless Mother and her Babe revive;
See Charity divine the Cordial give,
Fill'd by herself, and by herself still giv'n
With never-ceasing Smile; see Health, and Joy,

And

And Gratitude, and Peace, and Piety A silver Alivering to all Serene, fpring up beneath her genial Eye, to abata it with soil to Still flourish from her Hand, refreshing still away to the land With Dews of Life, these drooping Plants of Heav'n. Who would not starve his Luxury for this, And shut out Fashion with her Harlot-face? That gloffy Bawd to peftilent Defign, and defined to be beautiful and the beautiful To reeking Blandishment, to midnight Riot, By Vanity implicit still pursu'd. Wedt at adaptation and the Thy Vitals, Charity, are there confum'd In treach'rous Amity or fraudful League, had all salling to the Where Chance fits Arbiter, and Knav'ry rules O'er elegant Debauch, and fmooth Perdition: See Wisdom's Self the magic Pest obey, Too oft obey, and profittute to Levity, And childish Toys, the hoary Attributes Of grey Experience, and of thinking Age; Her Form instructive, and her moral Mien, Where reverend Reproof should awful check The fev'rish Transports of diffemper'd Youth, And up to Folly's Eye the Mirror hold: Let modish Madness, in her hot Career, and another A dead do W Listen to Reason at the bootless Goal, and slood off Au grind at When panting in Pursuit of Pain, and Guilt, the West of the con-She strives and stretches after fleeting Shades, bad had had but A Light, empty Goffomores, and airy Joys: O, hark! it is the wailing Mother's Groan, wall and will be A The Infant's piercing Cry; 'tis Nature calls; in your of or laught. Tis human Nature in Diffres; her Pange and notation A gid and W Are yours, ye Sons of Fortune's kind Caprice, which is the sold in Whom Chance, or Providence hath largely blefs'd: Your Hearts in Christian Unison should feel to and the library O The fympathetic Throb, and heal its Woes; To fuch as these in ardent Crowds repair, and to analysed by Here

Here mix with Angels; Angels visit these
On friendly Errands of supernal Grace;
Celestial Interviews shall here invite
Your frequent Steps, your Hearts, your Selves,
To mingle with the social Bands above,
And imitate their Fashions here below.

And Ye, on Earth, whose Beauty rivals Heav'n, Be still more beautiful by doing Good, And join with Seraphs in the Work divine; Bright CHARITY shall introduce you to them, And regulate the Modes of meek Precedence; Or little Form, or Ceremony needs, The melting Heart alone shall dictate all: No Strife lives here, but who shall most relieve From penal Pangs, by Nature's Laws impos'd Upon the fuff'ring Sex; that Tax, which Beauty Has, or must, or wishes still to pay; alas! A tenfold Tax, and dreadful to the Poor. Seraphic Envy, stir up ev'ry Breast; Inspire with Emulation, worthy Heav'n, how the base of the Each British Beauty; set her Heart on Flame With holy, Zeal, with Jealoufy divine, and and a wife of the bank With high Ambition, not to be out-done, and all the state of the state In lifting up the feeble Knee, that falls od and in tolerand in Beneath the Weight of Sorrow, Sickness, Want, And each hard Load which dread Affliction lays On fuff'ring Nature in her last Distress. And ah! what Pang can Eve's fad Daughters feel, Equal to Penury in that sharp Hour, And the share and and a different and a di When big Affliction finks 'em to the Earth, a stand promise at the Beneath that Weight a wretched Mother feels When Life lies gasping? - But the Image melts me -O, quickly lift, support, and bid her live. These Doors are open to your kind Commands, I do to the land of th Ye Daughters of Prosperity; make haste make in soul an door o'l

and I

Ye Beautiful, ye Good, enlarge the Bounds, And people ev'ry Mansion; wider yet Enlarge this confecrated Sanctuary, This fervent House, where warm Religion glows, Where practis'd Zeal, where pure Devotion burns; Where CHARITY the Censer holds, that Life Of Virtue, and that Flame of Heav'n. O, see Her Incense borne aloft by Angels! see My Angels ! see Her Sacrifice unfold the willing Doors On high! fee God himfelf with her well pleas'd! See public Love triumphant here rejoice! Here private Charity's a public Triumph. What complicated Benefits flow hence! What rich, what national Utility! To clear the Current to the teeming Source, Where human Nature struggles into Life; To take away the Bars, which Want or Pain Have thrown a-thwart its Progress into Light; To lead it fmiling by the Banks of Joy, Through vernal Breezes and the wholesome Year; A god-like Task, and worthy Gods to imitate. How ardent must the over-looking Eye Of skillful Care inspect th' important Minute! And watchful wait each preffing Call of Duty! O, 'tis an arduous Task indeed,-Where Credit, Conscience, Reputation, Fame, Are all at Stake; where not a fingle Life (The speculative Leech's utmost Care) But always two, and fometimes twice two Lives Upon the dreadful Cast depend. It is A shudd'ring Thought! and rashly does He risk his Life's Repose, who sets his Hopes Thereon; but true Ambition still is Virtue, And Virtue in the worst of Seasons will itself Sustain, when on itself it gratefully recoils,

With conscious Sense of honest Worth replete,
With self-approving Pride, with clear Integrity.

How many venial Murders o'er the Land On finless Babes and martyr'd Wives committed, By rash unskilful Hands, are here forbid? Behold! how learned Safety travels forth From hence, with Rules, with rich Credentials fraught, With practis'd Rules, with ripe experienc'd Art, To turn the Hand of Ignorance aside, and the land of the same of t Which robs Existence of its stinted Span, And strangles Nature in the Porch of Life. Here the midnight Dame is tutor'd to discharge With conscientious Care, and skilful Hands, Th' important Office of affifting Life, ..... When faint Perception just begins to live, And half devoted, in the Grasp of Death, Implicit lies; to fnatch the Mother From the dread Abyss, by pow'rful Art, And give the Infant-patriot to the World.

These are Arts, and Charities, that Saville Vouchsafes to love, with British Virtue sir'd, And joyful builds upon the bless'd Foundation.

Illustrious Hertford, more illustrious made
By bending from his high exalted Sphere,
With god-like Bounty in his Hands and Eyes,
To visit Want in her avoided Cell,
And bid desponding Merit hope to live;
To him the Wreath of rich Humanity,
And princely Worth benevolent, is due;
To him, the rescu'd Mother's Thanks, are due;
To him, the pratt'ling Insants growing Praise;
Immortal Trophies, richer far than ever
Philip's Son, or Julius wore. — Thee, Spencer,
Distinguish'd Youth, from glorious Churchil sprung,
To Cæsar equal, or to Philip's Son;

But from thy felf, thy in-born Virtues grow, Spontaneous grow; thy matchless moral Wreaths, The Crown of Justice, and the Patriot's Palm, Transcendent Youth, are thine, proclaim'd aloud, A People's universal Praise, is thine: O born of Justice, and to Bounty giv'n, Above Partitions of obstructing Laws, That feeble Fence, by human Hands thrown up, Thy lofty Soul, difdainful foars on high, and Tarrows a second And from thy own replenish'd Heart benign; That god-like Source of Justice uncompel'd, The free-will Offering paid, the Spring-tide pour'd Above the rocky Bars, and legal Bounds, Which flow-creeping, narrow, felfish Souls restrain; With over-whelming Bounty, spreading wide The vast, prolific Wave, like Nile's rich Flood, That scatters Health and Plenty where it flows. What Joy to thy maternal Soul, a Son and had been a sould So great, fo good, fo much belov'd, must bring! Illustrious Cowper, courtly Dame, admir'd, Indulgent happy Mother? Long enjoy Thy Country's fav'rite Offspring, and thy own; Britannia's Darling, and thy Bosom Bliss, Where Charity extends thy Heart harmonious, And fweet Humanity attunes the Strings To Christian Concord, and melodious Deeds, and and and That strike with sympathetic Force the Ear Of Heav'n well-pleas'd; whilst raptur'd Angels join In ardent Unifon, and Voice responsive, And lift up Earth to Heav'n; and what is Heav'n Itself but Charity? That Afylum Of happy Souls, fet free from mortal Thrall, Celestial Minds, that mix melodious Love With Sentiment of Gratitude immense, Reciprocal Delight, and pure good Will: O louder, sweeter, let thy Pow'r be felt, war ground and a long a long and a long a long and a long a long and a long a long and a long a long and a long And strike with Harmony divine, the Heart and he have don't Of Virtue, in the Breaft humane; awake a data of mohim hard With thy feraphic Hand, thy pure Example, In wing a loos A The Soul of Charity, fo long immers'd or but and the mod O In fenfual Styes, oppress'd by Luxury and do lo monitrational A Prophane, by fell Corruption's fatal Load. O, fee! a glorious Train of British Ardours Thy bright celestial Path pursue; ambitious - and vitation bala To press forwards; see, with bounding Hearts elate! With eager stretching Hands! they panting strive of the same of the To gain the Crown immortal! held aloft By CHARITY. See here, inthron'd the reigns woll would work Upon a Pyramid, by Angels built, wanted to be about the world will On Faith's firm Basis built, that stedfast Rock, As lafting as the World; O, fee the Top Ascends to Heav'n! there Charity shall bloom, Eternal Bloom, in God's glad Eye, when Faith It felf is fled, and Worlds are vanish'd all; When all Creation, like a Dream forgot, Is cancell'd from the Soul, nor ev'n in Thought Shall live, then Charity shall perfect grow, Immortal and mature, with God himself to about the wind of the Coëval; - Heav'n's eternal Year is hers.

Press on, ye Candidates, the Goal draws nigh,
Ye Christian Candidates for Heav'n, O see
The Wreath of Victory how green it grows!
How glad! how pleasing to the Eye of Faith!
How Reason rushes to the beauteous Palm,
By Virtue goaded, and by Faith led on.
See bloated Fashion, with a sinful Blush,
Now stand abstracted from her self; she drops
The painted Mask obscene, from her slack Hand,
Nor heeds her tawdry Train; — she steals a Look

Reciprocal

With less lascivious Eye, in Wonder six'd,

And half-admiring Mien, she stands amaz'd,

Grows fonder still, and falls in Love with Virtue.

A shining Troop of Proselytes appear, Increasing as they march in Phalanx firm, and A - Invalled By high Example led: Lo! Richmond leads In bright attractive Virtue, meek array'd, of the O ; and you'l The rescu'd Bands along. See weeping Vanity with the wall. Her tinfell'd Trophies tear! fee Luxury, had a solution of See crimfon Luxury turn pale! fee Fraud, In Fashion's Mask, a guilty Felon, slink I but had guilded this With stealing Steps, and down-cast Looks, was been windered but A-From Richmond's awful Eye; the Arts, The polish'd Arts, attend his fost ring Hand, And Britain's Glory draws his righteous Sword. Him Grafton joins, with equal Ardor fir'd, A like successful, and a like rever'd, and a like rever'd, Illustrious Collegues in the Cause of Heav'n; Inlifted under thy uplifted Banner, Van 1900 19 1901 1901 1901 O Charity, that cover'st ev'ry Crime; In them the Patriot and the Christian Close unite, to British Greatness long unknown.

Has Virtue then in human Shape appear'd?

With human Voice, in all her Attributes

Divine, and pow'rful Charms appear'd?

God-like Strange we see, in Britain's Senate!

In Britain's Senate hear! with patriot Port

Erect, with firm, unshaken Soul admir'd, which awful Voice, with Eloquence fincere!

Attracting, by his pow'rful Lore, to Britain's Cause,

Th' untainted Heart of Honour, yet unstruck and a common desired to the common desired t

By foul Corruption's all-polluting Touch an alondood and tailw 1A

Accurs'd: - How beautiful is public Virtue! avoig a variable whole

The Soul of Socrates with Tully's Tongue, has abid deaded and

With Hambden's Courage, and with Faulkland's Truth.

The Orphan claims him too, he vifits here would not be a last

ALTE.

The Daughters of Diftress, with melting Heart,
And lifts the fainting Matron from the Ground.
On yonder ardent Altar, see his Incense burn,
With brighter Flame aspire! and swifter mount
To Heav'n! — A splendid Constellation, see!
Of British Beauties, in yon Firmament
They shine; O see! how beautiful they shine!
With what inviting Beams! attracting nearer
To themselves, by moral Ties attracting
Their kindred Stars in sweet Vicinity,
Still shedding Light and Life, on all beneath,
And Charity, and heav'nly Influence.

To British Dashwood let the Strain aspire!

His Country's Father, and the Orphan's Friend;

'Tis Virtue's Meed, and Dashwood chaims the Strain;

Who stands distinguish'd in the Patriot Throng.

See round his Temples, in a living Wreath,

The British Oak intwin'd! that greener grows,

With more exalted Bloom and Vigour bles'd,

Than on the genial Stem: 'Tis Virtue keeps

The British Wreath alive, Corruption kills it

In the richest Soil; but Dashwood is a Briton.

Fitzberbert visits oft, with careful Eye,

With kind Compassion, and with melting Heart,

The Dwellings of Distress, and stretches oft

His friendly Hand to lift the seehle Knee.

Kind Damville, to his own good Heart a Victim,

Would from himself conceal that Charity

Unask'd, he largely gives to Worth in Want;

His giving Hands are of his Eyes asraid,

Lest Vanity, in Pity's Mask, should peep

At what his Goodness in the Shade bestows:

Such Charity is pious Stealth in him,

But Meekness bids, and Heav'n has piercing Eyes.

The golden Age returns; Corruption flies

The Land, that Heart-corroding Pest abhorrid,

2017

With all her Train accurs'd: How swift they fly
Before the Patriot's Arm! Th' avenging Scourge,
In Pitt's up-lifted Hand severe, behold!
Lo! Pitt now shakes it, and the Fiends retire.
Integrity all hail! Oh, once more hail,
Thou banish'd Friend, from Britain banish'd long;
O! welcome back, thou Stranger to thy own,
Thy native Land belov'd, return triumphant,
And depart no more: Here reign triumphant

And depart no more: Here reign triumphant,
In Patriot Hearts long reign: Lo! Pitt invites,
And with a British Soul prepares thy Throne;
To Pitt an everlasting Trophy raise:
Let Gratitude the deep Foundation lay,

And rescu'd Britain build it to the Stars.

Integrity, to thee new Altar's stame:
In ev'ry British Heart thy empty Shrine
Shall henceforth crowded be by Britain's Sons,
Friends to each other, and their Country's Friends,
The Friends of Mankind, Charity, and Heav'n:
Thy dauntless Sons, Integrity shall bring,

The Wreath of Victory to Britain's Isle
Once more, and plant the lasting Olive here.
Lo! Commerce, Considence, and Concord here,
Shall, harmonizing all, united reign;
Once more in Britain shall Religion reign
With absolute Command, and stretch her Sceptre
Up to Heav'n: I see the white-rob'd Years arise,

In long Succession rise; see Time himself
Rejoice, in hoary Triumph led serene,
To his last Stage, on Nature's utmost Verge,

By Charity's meek Hand; there swallow'd up In vast Eternity, his Reign shall end;

But Charity shall longer reign than He.

O Queen of Virtues, eldest-born of Heav'n, And Heiress of Eternity, by whom

The Worlds were made, in God's own Bosom lodg'd;

Thy plastic Influence mov'd him to create The Universe, and out of Chaos call I han A digital sale stoled This Fabric; infinite to human Thought Partition of the Thought By thy coercive Arms embrac'd, combin'd, it solded won and lour Imbody'd, fix'd, and kept fo strong together; lied lie wingotal Connubial Cause, that weds the great, the wife in I bedieved word I Creator to his Works, and mingles Earth worth, should smooley 10 With Heav'n: Thou Mufic of th' Almighty, old band svitan val Thou Life of Nature, and thou Breath of Goodin on magob but Nay, His Essence deep, to human Words or good street toltin I al And with a Britis Soul prepares thy noirro Antixe a division Of Divinity, if Gon could be divided gorl' and clove us will of Thou Image of the facred Three in One, 1 good out abutitand to Sweet Hope, and Faith, and thou, O Charity, in all busher bath Celestial Essence, are but One Lo, Faith wan out of wingstal And Hope, are diff'rent Effences of Thee; I mall divid your al In Thee they live, they move, and have their Being; looned lind? Thou Tabernacle, where the Godhead dwells, do note of abstract Thou TRINITY of Virtues, working with builded to abasis I all to Mysterious Energy, within the Heart, ingolal and delinual ydT The Christian Heart, thy Temple here below. Div to discould only O, wider, warmer work, inspire, posses, in fall bas , onom sono And spread abroad the sweet Infection still, who commerce, Lol The kindling Zeal, the bless'd Contagion spread; inomial lad? Still deeper let it strike, still deeper pierce, was a ni sipm sono Pervade, possess, assimulate the Soul : a bnammo stulolde il il Let God-like Charity the Fashion rule, wont of I : n'vaoH of QU The living Mode, the universal Tafte, on ; shir nollsoon? goof of The Fav'rite, most ador'd in Britain's Isle, wood at solo of By her fair Daughters, and her gen'rous Sons: Let Charity direct and govern all. To honest Shrines, like these, with Gifts sincere, with Alex of With hallowed First-fruits let them come, 1986 Had wireld and And offer up the Sacrifice, unfeigned; John John O Before these Altars bend with bounteous Hands Replete, and lift the Heart humane to Heav'n. 3953 N I S.